

IP6net was established in January 2003 to offer IT solutions for small to medium sized businesses. The personal touch of its founders and their innovative solutions gave the company an edge over the many "off-the-shelf" solutions currently on offer at the time. This, teamed with their passion for pioneering new technologies has enabled it to grow on these strengths, which currently underpin the foundations of its success.

Now, with that same attitude and a growing dynamic team, IP6net is bringing enterprise class IT to Medium sized business a multitude of industries, with its primary client base remaining within the Information Technology sector itself.

The most fundamental part of its business comes from knowing and understanding their clients. Generic recommendations simply do not work, so each solution is tailored individually, incorporating proven industry standard technologies. In each case, breaking down the barriers of cost and complexity, offering a wealth of experience and simplifying the day-to-day management of a company's IT infrastructure. The benefits of this naturally include the vast knowledge of its experts, no need for internal resource and a more cost-effective/productive solution.

As we've grown, we've learned that serving our clients is more than just offering the right solution. It includes providing support, scalability, security, performance and value for money – all areas in which IP6net has a proven track record.
